PREPARATION

Data is often underestimated during a digital transformation program.

By performing a strategic assessment of data health and lineage, VUPICO lays critical groundwork for your successful migration – and beyond.

With pre-defined business rules and workflows, together with the ability to quickly adapt to future state/target models, we'll systematically assess and prepare your data for:

- Extraction
- Transformation (cleansing, enrichment and mapping) and
- Loading

By strategizing your transformation with data across all designs, VUPICO will successfully address the needs of end-users, process optimization, and organizational strategy. This ensures business value is realized from day one of go-live.

VUPICO addresses the critical difference between technical ready and business ready data to ensure a successful migration, where value is realized by all facets of the business.

From there, value flows to beyond ETL and platform migrations to a broader enterprise transformation:

- Systems design is built to business requirements
- Data security is optimized
- Reporting satisfies information needs enterprise-wide
